i. Brief Objective of the Project

In the present world, students have more opportunities to interact with others while learning their subject using ICT. Students are obtaining more and more information about their subject outside of school hours, and their expectations are being met more efficiently.

The following are the goals of e-content: I to deliver material through multiple media such as radio, television, and computers.

- (ii) To improve pupils' ability to focus on a specific subject and learn it in depth.
- (iii) To experience emotional well-being through enjoyable learning and active student participation in content delivery.
- (iv) To reuse information for multiple groups of the same class without hesitation and without modifying it.
- (v) To make it simple for the facilitators to provide the content.
- (vi) To adapt the content to the current situation.
- (vii) Using multi-sensory to help pupils learn more effectively.
- (viii) During content delivery, maintain control over the students' learning ability.
- (ix) To learn self-sufficiency in content delivery in their own terms.

ii. Work done so far and results achieved and publications, if any resulting from the work (Give details of the papers and name of the journals in which it has been published or accepted for publication)

1. The topic entitled E-Content Development in Hindi(Optional) at U.G.Level is published in the International Peer Reviewed Referred Journal of Multidisciplinary Research one as it is more relevant and contemporary trend to be adapted by the language faculty for effective content delivery. In the Shabdarnav Year 6 Vol.12,Part-III of July-December, 2020
2. The related article " Hindi Sahithya Disha aur Dasha" has been published in the ISBN edition compiled by Prof.Narayana, Sri Venkateswara University, Tirupati
3. The related article "Digital Financial Literacy Awareness" has been published in the ISBN Publication which was presented in the National Seminar entitled "Digital Initiatives in Higher Education" which was organized on 4-5 January, 2020.

iii. Has the progress been according to the original plan of work and towards achieving the objective? If not, state the reasons.

Yes

iv. Please enclose a summary of the findings of the study. One bound copy of the final report of work done may also be sent to the concerned Regional Office of the UGC

In India, education consists mostly of lectures, presentations, and laboratory activities in the classroom. Audio-visual aids such as projectors, stereo systems, and film projection are used to supplement them. E-learning does not appear to be replacing traditional classrooms with blackboards, but rather coexists alongside the current system. This strategy is unlikely to reach India's rural areas, where education remains a looming gloom. This goal can be met by supplying low-cost PCs with broadband connections. In India, the scope of e-learning is much broader, with several e-learning businesses offering the service. In India, the e-learning scene is still developing and in its early stages.

The inevitability and challenging situation of post Covid pandemic times have transformed the psyche and temperament of the U.G. Hindi Language Teachers to develop e-content of their subject and got mastery over this trend. Yet there are some challenges in developing e-content like Technology dependent, Material Incompatibility, Unsuitable for certain type of students, expensive, reliant on human support, No match for face-to-face teaching, too reliant on IT skills, disabilities etc.,

Technology is a tool that can and should be efficiently harnessed and used in the classroom. E-learning is well adapted to distant and flexible learning, but it can also be used in conjunction with face-to-face instruction, in which case the phrase Blended learning is widely used. E-learning does not appear to be replacing traditional classrooms with blackboards, but rather coexists alongside the current system.

In conclusion, E-Content Development in Hindi (Optional) at UG Level in pre-Covid period was not so productive and played not so vital role by the faculty members of college teachers. In Covid-19 pandemic period the Hindi teachers accepted all the odds and obstacles, trained themselves well and learned to develop e-content in Hindi. They are even well versed in LMS.
